

10-21 POLICE PHONE FOR YOUR AGENCY

INCREASE COMMUNITY TRANSPARENCY AND TRUST

FOSTERING OPEN DIALOGUE BETWEEN LAW ENFORCEMENT AND THE COMMUNITY IS CRUCIAL. IT OFTEN REQUIRES MORE THAN A SINGLE IN-PERSON INTERACTION.

An officer may need to follow up on a police report or reach out regarding an ongoing investigation. However, many agencies don't equip personnel with the necessary tools to connect with the community. This leaves you no choice but to share your personal number and compromise your privacy. If you try to hide your number and make a blocked call, the likelihood of the call being answered is significantly reduced. In fact, a study by the Pew Research Center reports only 19% of Americans answer cellphone calls from unknown numbers.

10-21 is radio code for "make a phone call," and that's what the 10-21 Police Phone app is designed to do. The difference with 10-21 is that calls get answered while protecting your privacy by providing an identifiable, virtual phone number to use from your own device – keeping police work and personal life separate.

Boosting officer efficiency and fostering community connections has never been easier.

"Civilians have expectations about how accessible police are going to be to them. We're talking about your mom and dad wanting to get a callback on the results or information about a traffic crash report. We want to be able to meet the expectations of those folks and be very accessible."

Master Sergeant Greg Primm, Missouri State Highway Patrol

LAW ENFORCEMENT'S FAVORITE MOBILE APP

However, you have no insight into these interactions.
