

COMMANDCENTRAL JAIL

MAINTAIN ORDER. KEEP THE PEACE.

A lack of resources is always pushing your staff to their limits. But are you now struggling to address new problems like overcrowding and mental illness? This mounting stress creates a vicious cycle that puts the corrections process at risk.

Without the proper resources and a trend of increased overtime to make up for it, staff are burning out at higher rates than anywhere else in public safety. Turnover combined with record incarceration rates puts higher demands on officers responsible for maintaining a safe and secure environment. And, mental health issues continue to create a new set of challenges they are not equipped to deal with today.

REHABILITATE SAFELY AND SUCCESSFULLY

CommandCentral Jail provides an officer-oriented experience that helps them be most successful. It is built to integrate with other systems you use and is completely secure - compliant with all major standards including CJIS.

With CommandCentral Jail, offender intake is simplified and streamlined. Inmate and officer safety is improved by increasing awareness and access to information. And after safe, successful incarceration and rehabilitation, inmates can be released confidently back into the community.

WHY COMMANDCENTRAL JAIL?

Officer Oriented

While jail management is typically built by location, we focus on the user and what they need to do their job. This even means providing an experience across devices so officers have access to information anywhere they are.

Built To Integrate

We're focused on making you successful by giving users the information they need within a single workflow. This not only includes incorporating data from records systems, but even third party systems inside the jail you already rely on.

Completely Secure

Access to and protection of your information is controlled by parameters you set and meets CJIS requirements. Even in multi-agency deployments, strict permissions can control access to information while still making it easy to share.
