FROM THE FRONT LINE

Gelayol Moradzadeh, UX Designer
Fire Training, Champaign, IL

“We had to crawl on our hands and knees. It was dark and wet but I could feel the heat of the fire. When we’re here, in this environment, under these circumstances, it’s the closest we’ll ever get to seeing what it’s like to be a firefighter. By experiencing even just a piece of their day-to-day lives, we can better design the right experience for them.”
