The importance of community engagement

Make deposits in the bank of community trust

Building strong communities is like making small deposits into a trust bank.

Each act of engagement builds your capital, and over time, that investment pays off in resilience, loyalty and real impact.

Play 3:

Building community trust through engagement and marketing

Connect Face-to-Face

In-person contact like registration offices and libraries at schools, or reception desks at businesses allow you to hand out informational flyers about Rave Guardian.

Expand Your Reach

Virtual events and social media platforms (Facebook, Instagram, X) broaden accessibility and engagement. Share updates, success stories, and resources. Our social media best practices guides highlights ways to control algorithms, along with recommended strategies to support engagement and drive adoption.

Interactive Engagement

At all events, provide a staffed information booth to answer questions, assist with sign-ups, and inform about training opportunities. Have a pull-up banner at your information booth to grab the attention of attendees.

Post-Incident Engagement

After an incident occurs, proactively connect with your community. Provide them with information about Rave Guardian and how it can enhance their safety and/or support. Have responding officers hand out app information and business cards. This is contingent on the modules you have integrated into the app experience.

Play 1:

Empower through education

Before your public launch, ensure your internal staff is aware of your Rave Guardian product and the benefits of the program.

1. Conduct a team meeting to showcase the app, it's features and then follow with a call to action to download Rave Guardian on their phones.
 - a. Make Rave Guardian adoption part of new employee onboarding.
2. Identify a dedicated Community Engagement Representative to attend community events to educate your stakeholders.

Play 2:

Strategic partnership: Identify stakeholders and community ambassadors

The success of your app hinges on strong partnerships. Here's how to build them:

Identify Key Stakeholders

Engage local leaders, business associations, student committees, and other relevant groups to gather diverse perspectives and foster a collaborative approach. This ensures community buy-in and relevance.

Empower Community Ambassadors

Community ambassadors serve as crucial links between the Rave Guardian experience and the community it aims to support. They increase awareness, build trust, and encourage participation by sharing their own experiences and insights.

Play 4:

Execute public launch

A successful public launch is valuable for raising awareness and driving adoption.

There are 4 crucial elements to public launch:

1. Being familiar with the Media Relations Best Practices Guide
2. Draft a press release for the announcement.
 - Invite public officials, as well as bi-lingual and/or sign language interpreters to the press conference.
 - Distribute press release to local media:
 - Local news
 - Local radio
 - Local newspapers
 - Local bloggers
3. Host a press conference.
4. If you have social media channels, stream your press conference.
